

REPUBLICANS IN CONTROL OF BOTH HOUSE AND SENATE AS THE 80TH CONGRESS OPENS A MOST MOMENTOUS SESSION; ATTEMPT LIKELY TO BAR SENATOR BILBO

Both Houses Are Expected to Meet Only Briefly Today and Then Adjourn to Await President Truman's State of the Union Message, Due Monday—Rep. Joseph Martin Chosen As Speaker.

(By William K. Hutchinson, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—(INS)—The 80th Congress opens a momentous session today with Republicans in control of both House and Senate for the first time in 18 years.

The Republican party assumes control of Federal legislation by mandate of the American people, given in last November's balloting. Subject to President Truman's veto power, the Republicans will direct the legislative destiny of the people through the 1948 Presidential elections.

The new Senate, in GOP hands by a margin of six votes, will have the duty of ratifying all peace treaties, negotiated by the Truman administration to formally end World War II.

Top legislative priority in both Houses goes to proposed measures which would curb the powers of labor unions, cut taxes, and launch a series of drastic economies in government.

A human interest drama may take chronological precedence over the lawmaking—the attempt to bar Sen. Bilbo (D) Miss., from his seat on charges that he was guilty of improper conduct in relations with war contractors.

Senate Republican leaders agreed on a move to bar Bilbo pending discussion of further charges against the harried but still fiery Mississippi.

The two houses are expected to meet only briefly today and then adjourn to await President Truman's state of the union message, due Monday.

The reward of long years of service as House minority leader came today to Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts with election as speaker.

Martin changes places with Sam Rayburn of Texas, who now becomes minority leader in the House. Rayburn accepted that post with a plea that the Democrats in Congress "stand together in fundamentals."

Sen. Barkley (D) Ky., faithful servant of the Roosevelt and Truman administrations as Senate majority leader, heads the minority in the Upper House.

After an often bitter pre-session battle, Rep. Halleck of Indiana, was chosen House majority leader. Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, Barkley's "opposite number" during the years of Democratic supremacy, leads the House minority.

Benny Snyder and His Orchestra To Appear Here

A dance will be held Saturday night at the Mutual Aid Hall, Wood street, under the promotion of the Evans Amusement Company. Evans Amusement Company will present one of the nation's top rising bands which has just returned from a successful tour in the West. It is stated, introducing Benny Snyder, his drums and his orchestra.

Benny Snyder has broken attendance records at several popular night spots in the West, and is coming east for several months. After completing his engagements in the East, he will then return to the West. Evans Amusement Company expects to continue a series of dances here.

Firemen Organize For Year's Activities

Bristol Volunteer Fire Company, No. 6, reorganized for the year 1947 at the fire station last evening, when newly-elected officers took their seats. Plans were made for the year's activities, committees named, plans made for participating in the county firemen's convention to be held here in 1948, and many suggestions made for the betterment of the company and its personnel in general.

In turning the gavel over to the newly-elected president, Joseph E. Roos, Charles G. Rathke, retiring president, stated that he hoped the members would give Mr. Roos the same loyal support they had given him during the past year. In accepting the gavel, Mr. Roos replied that he was sure they would, and that was all he asked for.

At the conclusion of his report as chairman of the house committee, Norman Hetherington and his aides were given a rising vote of thanks, and Mr. Roos immediately reappointed Mr. Hetherington chairman of that committee, with the privilege of selecting his own assistants.

A brief but full and concise report, with recommendations and suggestions, was made by the company's foreman, Nelson Campbell, and President Roos also reappointed him foreman for the coming year.

The newly-elected officers are as follows: President, Joseph E. Roos; vice-president, Andrew Polfeist; treasurer, Sigmund S. Stubebeck; recording secretary, John T. Baron; financial secretary, William Winslow, Jr.; trustee (for five years), Herman Petrucci.

At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served by the house committee to approximately 20 members.

FEW CHANGES LIKELY IN STATE GOVERNMENT

John C. Bell Begins Serving A 20-Day Interim Term

MARTIN QUILTS OFFICE

By James H. Smith

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Jan. 3—(INS)—Little change in Pennsylvania's State Government was anticipated today as Gov. John C. Bell began serving a 20-day interim term.

During a short but dramatic ceremony, Bell ascended to the governorship yesterday, succeeding Edward Martin who resigned to assume his seat in the U. S. Senate.

Governor Bell's term, shortest in the history of the 156-year-old Commonwealth, will end with the inauguration of Governor-elect James H. Duff January 21.

The 54-year-old lawyer has promised no shakeup of personnel and was expected to have little other than "routine business" to transact during his tenure.

Martin resigned to "the people of Pennsylvania" at 3:37 p. m. Three minutes later, Bell had taken the oath of office from State Supreme Court Justice George W. Maxey, of Scranton, as Pennsylvania's 33rd Chief Executive.

In a short radio address, Governor Bell lashed out at Americans for what he called the "confusion and chaos" prevailing in the nation.

Who Gets Struck By A Strike?

—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

Strikes are getting too costly to too many people. We have got to find a more civilized way to settle disputes.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics shows 5,292,000 out on strikes and 124,830,000 lost man-days of work from September 1, 1945 to September 30, 1946. Giving eight hours a day and $1.00 an hour as the average wage, the direct wage loss was $998,640,000. Add to that the indirect loss in goods not produced, wages lost by neutral workmen, the loss to employees, the lost taxes to government, and our loss in international prestige.

The General Motors strike last winter involved 151,809 members of the union. It also affected 75,900 other G. M. workers who did not belong to the union. The wages lost were $131,055,235. Add an equal

PERFECT PROCESS TO PREVENT MOTH DAMAGE

Pennsylvania Salt Company Laboratories Impregnate Clothing with DDT

"BEST PROCESS YET"

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3—A process to prevent moth damage to clothes by impregnating them with DDT has been perfected by the Whitmarsh Research Laboratories of the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company and soon will be made available to the public through dry cleaners, it was announced today.

"This new application of DDT to one of the most costly insect problems in the nation has proved to be the best process we have yet seen," said Dr. S. C. Ogburn, Jr., Pennsalt Manager of Research and Development.

The new method, which thoroughly impregnates clothing with DDT without affecting the cloth in any way, involves a mixture of DDT and an absorbent powder and a pump percolator machine which dissolves the DDT in just the right amount in the dry cleaning solvent. The machine sprays this solution on the clothes in the dry cleaner's extract, or in such a way that the treating solution thoroughly saturates the garments, so that after drying minute amounts of DDT are deposited on nearly every fiber.

After testing numerous possible methods of applying DDT to prevent moth damage, this was the only one found completely satisfactory both from an application and control standpoint, Dr. Ogburn said. Both the machine and the DDT product, to be known as Erusto-moth, were developed in the Laundry and Dry Cleaning Laboratory at Whitmarsh. The U. S. Hoffman Machinery Corporation of New York now is designing a machine for mass production for dry cleaning plants.

Tested for three years at Whitmarsh, the new process also was given a thorough evaluation test in treatment of more than 5,000 pounds of clothing last summer at the Laboratory of National Institute of Cleaning and Dyeing at Silver Spring, Md. Results of this work were sent to member dry cleaning firms last week.

Tests show that the DDT actually kills or repels insects, such as clothes moths, carpet beetles and silver fish, that venture to attack garments.

ENGLAND'S NEW YEAR

News dispatches from London tell a strange series of stories about a strange New Year's.

The trends in that land are of great interest to all Americans, for the reason that the current events there may be the coming events of this nation.

What is going on in Great Britain may be, as some think bad dreams are, an omen of our own future—unless the drift of our own country towards State Socialism can be reversed during the present session of Congress.

England has been definitely under Socialism for a year and a half. We have been at the threshold for much longer than that.

Two basic questions remain to be answered about State Socialism. One is, whether it is economically sound—or rather, is it economically possible? Every prior nation which has attempted it has been forced either into exploitation of slavery to keep alive, or into military aggression. The other question is whether human liberty can survive under State Socialism.

Many of the various accounts of London's New Year's bear upon these questions.

One of the stories hints of what is inside the mind of the British people themselves—a sense of frustration and foreboding which, as is so often the case, has led to forced gaiety.

Revelry and tumultuous emotions brought a near-riot to one of the British capital's biggest "fancy balls"—a costume affair known as the Chelsea Arts Ball being repeated for the first time since 1938.

The prize display of the ball was a high float upon which were six scantily clad girls labeled "For Export Only"—a dig at the belt-tightening existence of the British people while their government sends most of the civilian goods into foreign trade.

Masqueraders stormed the float, wrecked it, nearly trampled the girls underfoot; and the British "bobbies" had to be called in to restore order and prevent tragedy.

This incident came within a few hours after a disquieting report from a Government Commission, which after a careful survey announced that the mentality of the British people is running rapidly down hill.

This startling statement was the outcome of a long series of intelligence tests. Projecting the trends, the report said, within fifty years there will be about twice as many feeble-minded, and only half as many with minds worth educating. Says an outstanding British psychologist, Britain is engaged in "a galloping plunge towards intellectual bankruptcy."

MRS. HARRY POPE DIES VERY SUDDENLY HERE

NATIVE OF DANVILLE

A well-known Bristol woman, one who had been a resident here for 48 years, died very suddenly this morning at one o'clock at the home of a friend.

The deceased is Mrs. Minetta Irene Pope (nee Mottern), widow of Harry Pope, of 622 Beaver street. Mrs. Pope last evening attended the weekly session of her card club at the home of Mrs. Harry Campbell, Cleveland street. While the members were partaking of refreshments Mrs. Pope slumped slightly in her chair, her head resting on the shoulder of one of the group present. Mrs. Pope's daughter, Miss Hilda M. Pope, and friends attempted to assist her, but death had been instantaneous.

Mrs. Pope, who was affiliated with The Travel Club, the Mothers' Association of Bristol public schools, and of Bristol Branch of the Needlework Guild of America, was very active in those organizations. She had for a number of years served as chairman of the social committee of The Travel Club; was secretary of the Needlework Guild at the time of her death; and was a past president of the Mothers' Association.

Born at Danville 72 years ago, she came to Bristol at the time of her marriage. She and her family made their home on Jefferson avenue for a time, but had resided at the Beaver street address for more than 30 years.

Mrs. Pope's survivors are her two daughters, Miss Hilda M. Pope, Beaver street, and Mrs. Horace W. Royer, of Towson, Md.; also two granddaughters, Marilyn and Harriette Royer, of Towson.

2 Face Long Terms For Theft of Woolen Goods

MEDIA, Jan. 3—(INS)—Two Philadelphia men faced lengthy prison terms today after pleading guilty to theft of $41,000 worth of woolen goods from the Yorkshire Mills at Lenni.

Louis Factor, 36, was sentenced to seven to 29 years by Judge Henry G. Sweeney. Edward Schleinkofer, 24, was given an eight to 29 year term.

Detectives had charged Schleinkofer threatened Harry Junod, a truck driver, with a pistol as the latter was about to drive the shipment of woolens from the mill.

Junod was forced to drive about a mile from the plant, where Factor appeared. Junod was trusted up and left in an abandoned quarry.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents later announced the recovery of $18,000 worth of the woolens near Crofton. Police recovered an additional $12,000 worth which had been sold.

PLANS APPROVED FOR NEW 4-ROOM SCHOOL AT EDGELY

Also for Two-Room Addition To the Maple Shade School Building

REPORT ON REPAIRS

James H. Robinson Names Committees To Serve For Year 1947

Bristol Township board of school directors last evening approved preliminary plans for a new four-room school building at Edgely, and a two-room addition to the Maple Shade school building.

The architect engaged by the board was instructed at the first meeting of 1947, held in the Junior High School building on Rogers Road, to proceed with advertise-ments for bids in order to have the building program completed for the opening of the 1947-48 term next September.

The Secretary of the board was also instructed to make arrangements for the sale of bonds to finance the project.

This project is in accordance with approval given by the voters at a proposed bond issue on November 5th, in order to help eliminate overcrowded conditions in the elementary schools of the township.

James H. Robinson, the presiding officer, named committees to serve for 1947, these being as follows, with chairman being the first named in each instance: Building and grounds, Harry Barth, William Vetter, Albert Stiles; transportation, William Knight, Vetter; supplies, Stiles, Barth, Clarence H. Young; teachers, E. Leslie Helwig, Stiles, Knight; finance and budget, Helwig, Young, Knight.

The architect reported to the board that alterations being made at Newportville school are well under way and the work will be completed shortly after receipt of the boiler.

Church Members to Hear Missionaries They Aid

A three-day conference on missions will be conducted in Calvary Baptist Church beginning tonight at eight o'clock.

Two speakers will share in delivering the messages, Miss Joy Leister and the Rev. Leslie Tullar. Both are missionaries supported by Calvary church. Miss Leister has spent a number of years in the northern part of China working among the Tibetan lepers. She will show pictures on Saturday evening of that leper work. On Sunday evening the Rev. Leslie Tullar, Calvary's missionary to Nigeria, West Africa, will speak.

Both missionaries have been supported by the church for almost five years. The purpose of this conference is to stimulate interest in missions and to aid Christian young people who are planning to devote their lives to Christian service.

Health Conditions Were Very Good in December

There are at present no disease quarantines in Bristol and no nuisances were reported to the Bristol Health Board last month.

There were 11 cases of chicken-pox, one of measles, and five of whooping cough.

There was the usual monthly inspection of dairies and conditions were found to be satisfactory.

The Health Board met last night and re-organized for the year by the re-election of Dr. H. Doyle Webb, president; Serrill D. Dettelson, secretary; and James H. Brooks as health officer. James A. Callahan presided at the re-organization meeting.

RELIEF ASS'N REORGANIZES

The Board of Control of the Bristol Firemen's Relief Association met last night and re-organized by the election of Jacob C. Schmidt, Sr., as president; Livingston Joyce, vice president; Serrill D. Dettelson, secretary; and John S. Roberts, Jr., treasurer. The trustees are Clifford Hagerman, Anthony Russo and Serrill D. Dettelson. Thomas Scott presided at the re-organization meeting.

HE MADE PEOPLE LAUGH

The entertainment world lost one of its most brilliant stars when W. C. Fields departed this life. Perhaps the truest thing said of him was that he managed to get through to the remnant of out-laws which is in every human heart. He was a master in posing as a confidence man, a medicine man, a shell-game artist.

He was particularly fitted by his air of pomposity for the role of Micawber in Dickens' "David Copperfield." And Dickens' lines were the only ones which he followed accurately. He found it difficult to memorize his roles, but his genuine ability as an entertainer shone in his improvisations.

When he was eleven he hit his father on the head with a heavy wooden box and fled his home to live in the streets and sleep in doorways for the next four years. It was during this period that he acquired a dread of dogs which persisted throughout his life. He once said that he might fool people but that dogs knew that he was a tramp and "they still think of me that way."

It was when he saw a juggling team perform that he began to acquire the art of juggling which started him on his vaudeville career. He himself related that his desire for excellence in juggling was fanned tremendously by his acquisition of a job on an ice wagon which required him to get up at 4 a. m. Everything that he accomplished in later life he attributed to the fact that he was still engaged in flight from that ice wagon.

Apparently it was only when he got into the acting profession that he found his proper vehicle.

SOME HOPE, ANYWAY

It takes credit men to tell people what is wrong with their country and the world. A good example was the recent statement of Henry H. Heilmann, executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men.

In summing up the hidden liabilities on the nation's balance sheet, he mentioned persisting inflation in real estate and stock prices, the easy-money policy that has distorted the American people's sense of money values and retarded thrift, and "the expediency policies of the government."

Among other current liabilities, he listed global chaos, low productivity, persons who desire security without being willing to admit the necessity of earning it and lower standards of ethics, particularly in certain public service institutions. That sounds like a harsh indictment. Yet Mr. Heilmann was not pessimistic. His final conclusion was that although these liabilities are tremendous, "they are sufficiently outweighed by the assets to make the country a good credit risk in 1947."

At least, there is some hope.

Canadians may not be aware what they are in for. The government at Ottawa threatens to simplify income tax reports.

If there is a manpower shortage, at least no WPA can be accused of hoarding manpower.

ENGLAND'S NEW YEAR

Just where this typically bureaucratic piece of "forecasting" is aimed is hard to say. Presumably, the moral is intended to be that it is time for government "planners" to extend their activities. The ground is certainly laid for the setting up of a new Socialist Bureau of Who-Shall-Marry Whom in England—for the basic conclusion of the survey is that the dumber class of British are having the big families, and the smart ones few children or none.

The New Year brought another instance of the gradual encroachment of censorship upon Britain's boasted right of free speech. This was just a bit more arrogant and stupid than those which have gone before. The postoffice refused to handle any more mail which bore on it the printed slogan of the Conservatives: "A happy New Year and a new Government soon."

This, said the announcement, was considered "embarrassing"—to the Labor Government, of course. But the point at which the bureaucratic touch became evident was when the ban was made to apply only to "printed" versions of the slogan—it can still be written on, or pasted as a label. The Conservatives plan to bring the matter up in Parliament.

These matters are all trivial—they are straws in the wind. But larger matters are afoot.

Nationalization of coal became a fact with the New Year. This is perhaps the biggest test of the Labor Party's Socialist program. British economy is starving for lack of fuel. Mining has become more and more disorganized under the transition. Now it must be speeded up fast to prevent widespread industrial shutdowns.

The British people themselves face a chilly winter. Little fuel is available for heating. Earlier the markets were deluged with floods of electric heaters, upon which British families expected to rely to keep warm. Now the coal scarcity has forced growing interruptions in the electric service.

Yet the Socialist in charge are making grandiose plans for the years to come, and few for the present emergency. The hand-operated mines, according to the Government's announcement, are to be mechanized—a ten-to-twenty-year operation. "Inefficient" mines will be closed, and the miners shipped off to others which the government feels are "efficient."

British parents trying to keep their children warm enough to survive the winter may or may not be comforted to learn that within a year there is to be a survey of long-range coal needs, with special attention to the matter of whether new shafts should be drilled.

In Russia some years ago, several millions of persons meekly starved to death while an earlier generation of Communist "planners" worked out a new farm program for that unhappy land.

Will the British people tolerate the same thing in their own land? Has their mentality, as well as their spirit of self-reliance, sunk to the point where they will follow the concepts of collectivism and welfare-statism through a quagmire of "austerity" which appears to be no more than a fancy word for slow-starvation and exposure to cold?

That remains to be seen. The depths of stupidity to which mass psychology, under Communist propaganda, can sink defies prediction.

At the moment, England is wallowing like a dying giant. The "dismemberment" of the British Empire may be much closer than anyone thinks. The concept that, if everyone "co-operates," no one will have to work, seems to have bitten deeply.

We in America could have no better example of the folly and fallacy of the Communist "ideology" than we are being afforded by the disaster-bound muddling of our British brethren.

amount lost in wages in other plants which the strike shut down.

Westinghouse lost $133,000,000 in sales because of the strike in that industry. It shut down 80 per cent of the nation's electrical machinery for industrial use.

The steel strike last winter involved 750,000 strikers in 1,200 plants in 407 communities and 29 states. The strike was settled at 3½ cents over the pre-strike offer. It will be three years before the 3½ cents makes up for the losses to the strikers. The public finally paid $5 per ton more for coal. The steel strike in conjunction with the coal strike caused a loss of 12,000,000 tons of steel, enough to make 900,000 automobiles, 70,000 farm tractors, 570,000 washing machines, 1,144,000 kitchen stoves, 1,416,000 refrigerators, plus 7 billion tin cans, and there would still remain 9,000,000 tons of steel for other purposes.

A strike last spring resulted in a price increase of between 35 and 50 cents a ton. The Bituminous Coal Institute estimates a loss of $144,540,000 in wages.

The farm equipment manufacturers strike resulted in the loss of tens of thousands of threshers, binders, mowing machines, etc.

A strike of 15 drivers in a bakery caused 1,000 others to be idle, and caused 63 retail stores.

A strike of 113 Briggs truck drivers in the Briggs Manufacturing Company, threw out of jobs 12,000 other men. Another strike by 1,200 Briggs workers threw 40,000 out of work in Chrysler, Packard and Buick.

A strike in a coal company by 7 assistant foremen threw 450 out of work.

A G. M. strike by 2,200 war-veteran employees caused 3 plants to close and forced 20,000 other employees out of work.

A strike of 175 machinists caused 2,000 workers to remain idle.

A strike of 90 supervisors in a coal and coke company forced 2,500 to be idle.

In 28 such strikes, 19,240 workers on a strike threw out of work 182,920 other workmen.

Study that estimate its own men, who did not strike, have lost $20,000,000 in wages because of other men on strike.

Who gets struck by a strike?

Policies Outlined by Bucks County Girl Scout Leaders

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 3 — Bucks Co. Girl Scout Leaders' Association held a session in the Moose home on Monday evening, when a number of policies were outlined.

Mrs. Roland J. Craig presided and welcomed the leaders from Chalfont, Warminster, Richboro, Quakertown, New Hope and Doylestown. About 40 Girl Scout troops are represented in the leaders' association.

It was decided to meet on the third Monday of each month in the Moose Home here. Each troop will pay a small amount of dues to the county leaders unit.

Announcement was made that a leaders' training course will be held two days, Feb. 14 and 15, at the Moose Home.

The leaders also discussed the possibility of three leaders—volunteers—attending a leaders' course of training at Natural Bridge in Virginia.

Leaders reported on the sale of Girl Scout cookies, but since not all the troops were represented no complete report was filed.

CHILD'S COLDS

Most young mothers use this modern way to relieve miseries of children's colds. At bedtime they rub Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest and back. Grand relief starts as VapoRub...

PENETRATES to upper bronchial tubes with its special medicinal vapors. STIMULATES chest and back surfaces like a warming poultice.

Often by morning most of the misery of the cold is gone! Remember—ONLY VAPORUB gives you this special double action. It's time-tested, home-proved... the best-known home remedy for relieving miseries of children's colds. VICKS VAPORUB

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Woodrow W. Kern, S. T. M., Pastor, Trevoise Methodist Church

Eternal God who by Thy spirit makest all things new, and yet Thyself abidest the same, renew a right spirit within us and quicken our lives to a more alert response to Thy will. Make it possible for us to put selfishness and our own will into the background in order that Thy will, even though it be harder at the time, may prevail. Enable us to pray even as Thou hast taught us to pray. "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven." Give us the Christ-like spirit that we may pray with Jesus in the Garden. "Not my will but Thine be done." Save us from weak resignation. May we recognize that it is only by giving our lives that we have life, and when we try to save ourselves we lose the life and spirit which comes alone from Thee. May we find in Thee the water which if we drink shall never thirst and the bread which if we eat shall never hunger. Quench our thirst with that water. Feed us with that bread. Amen.

SPORTSMEN'S
BRIEFS
By JOE ELBERSON

For your own benefit . . . when an ice-crust snow covers the ground as it has during the last two days wildlife has a difficult time finding not only shelter but also food. And if this condition prevails for any length of time they become weakened and easy prey for foxes and other predators.

All of us can help to alleviate this condition by placing feed in scattered sections of the countryside. An ear of corn (on the cob) placed on a stick a few inches above the ground will be most welcome by our already depleted pheasant population. Grain of any description is good, or an apple or two placed where the snow will not cover it over.

Feeding now is about the best investment the hunter can make to assure himself of shooting next fall.

 4. The groove around a bullet into which the case is crimped.
 5. A double barreled gun in which the barrels are placed one upon the other instead of side-by-side.
 6. The caliber .30 Army cartridge which was adapted to the Krag-Jorgensen rifle, standard service rifle prior to the Springfield.
 7. A cartridge used in the Model 94 Winchester rifle.
 8. Standard Army ammunition for the Springfield, Garand, and light machine guns.
 9. In the United States this is a term used to designate any rifle of .25 caliber or over.

Interesting . . . Shad were believed to have returned to their fresh water home by instinct, but are now thought to move in a thermal belt. That is, their movements are governed by the heat of the air and water.—Sports Afield.

JONES AND FERRY
WIN FOR "HIBOES"

Points by "Lenny" Jones and Jack Ferry in the closing minutes of the game gave the Junior Hibernians a 45-42 triumph over St. Ann's Juniors last night on the Mutual Aid floor.

By winning, the Hibs moved into a deadlock with the "Saints" and Third Ward for third place in the Bristol Youth League.

The game was nip-and-tuck from start to finish with St. Ann's holding a three-point lead at half-time and the score being deadlocked at 33 each at the end of the third period.

Gross and Perry were high scorers for the winning team with 13 and 12 points, respectively. Johnny Centonze and "Sonny" Fields scored 22 of the St. Ann's counters.

Perfect Process To Prevent Moth Damage

It was found that DDT applied by the Erumoth process protects clothes from insect damage between even infrequent dry cleanings. Most of its strength is retained through a number of washings. One piece of wool, treated two years ago, still remains untouched by carpet beetles although it has been kept enclosed with beetles most of this time.

Complete tests, both at White-mash and the NIDC Laboratories, proved that the cloth is in no way injured by the DDT. Colored fabrics showed no indication of color change and no more tendency to fade than untreated samples. No odors were detected in treated cloth and the DDT produced no change in tensile strength, "feel," or other physical characteristics.

One of the biggest advantages of the new process, said Pennsalt scientists, is that the insecticide reaches all parts of the garment, assuring protection in seams, cuffs, linings and padding and other parts seldom reached by insect sprays or other moth control systems.

Although marketing details for the new process have not been completed, Pennsalt officials said they expect dry cleaners will be able to treat garments when they are cleaned at a low additional cost. Customers will be able to order Erumoth treatment each time the garment is cleaned or stored, usually, before storage, as desired.
